"We going to work site based in Vancouver for the duration of the LIVE festival. We will not need a studio in a traditional way because we are going to use the urbanity of Vancouver as 'place' to research, resource, play, think and devise ideas into actions. We will present time and site based performance work to announced audience all day Saturday Sept 24 at a site we like, or many sites. We will use the LIVE website to update our findings, processes and unfolding actions each day."

re–LIVE Vancouver will take a consciously critical stance to revisiting performance art history by looking at the discourse around re-performance in a uniquely local way that both examines the profound history of Vancouver performance art and invites the participation of our emergent art community. For this occasion we will invite Vancouver artists to respond to historically significant performance milestones created in this city over five decades by visionary and radical senior Vancouver artists.
Presented in partnership with VIVO and the Satellite Gallery.
